EUNRO Region Report Guidelines

Our papers are designed to be as accessible to as large an audience as possible. They are primarily informative but may also be theoretical and conceptual. They have a practical application and clear recommendations (key points) for policymakers and academics.

A Region Report should include the following:

- A policy relevance statement: 1 sentence on the practical or theoretical utility of the paper
- 5 keywords
- An abstract (50-60 words) in English and language of relevant region/author's native language
- 3 key points (each around 2 sentences/40 words long)
- Main text (2000-2500 words)

For references:

- In text as a number
- APA style in references

Example:

Smith, T. (2020). The citation manual for students: A quick guide (2nd ed.). Wiley. 235-245.

For the graphical abstract (recommended):

An image, table of data, graph, chart or figure that visualises the main point(s) of the paper.
